Maryland Day is a state holiday celebrated on the last Monday in March. It commemorates the founding of the colony of Maryland in 1634. Maryland Day is a time to celebrate the state's history, culture, and people.

This year, due to the COVID-19 pandemic, many Maryland Day events have been canceled or postponed. However, there are still plenty of ways to celebrate Maryland Day at home.

Here are a few ideas:

- Take a virtual tour of a Maryland landmark. The Maryland State Archives has a number of virtual tours available on its website, including tours of the State House, the Old Senate Chamber, and the Hall of Records. You can also take a virtual tour of the USS Constellation, a historic sailing ship that is now a museum in Baltimore.

- Cook a traditional Maryland dish. Maryland is known for its seafood, so why not cook a seafood dish for Maryland Day? Some popular Maryland dishes include crab cakes, oysters, and rockfish. You can also find recipes for Maryland-style barbecue and pit beef.
- Watch a Maryland movie or TV show. There are a number of movies and TV shows that have been filmed in Maryland, including "The Wire," "House of Cards," and "Veep." You can also watch Maryland-themed movies such as "The Blair Witch Project" and "Hairspray."
- Read a book about Maryland. There are a number of great books about Maryland history, culture, and people. Some popular books include "The Chesapeake Bay" by Tom Horton, "Maryland: A History" by Edward Papenfuse, and "The Ghosts of Frederick County" by Mark Nesbitt.
- Play a Maryland-themed game. There are a number of board games and card games that are themed around Maryland. Some popular games include "Maryland Monopoly," "Maryland Trivia," and "Crab Bingo."
- Attend a virtual Maryland Day event. A number of organizations are hosting virtual Maryland Day events this year. These events include online concerts, lectures, and workshops. You can find a list of virtual Maryland Day events on the Maryland Day website.

No matter how you choose to celebrate, Maryland Day is a great time to learn more about the state's history, culture, and people. So get involved and have some fun!
